Description

The Fidibus fireplace consists of 3 mm thick sheet steel, which is dark and bright in its original condition. This corrodes in the course of time and the fireplace gets its individual rust-coloured patina. In addition, the soot leaves interesting contrasts on the corroding material. Fidibus can be used outdoors all year round without any problems.

Fidibus is relatively small in terms of dimensions and can always be used wherever it is needed. With its minimalist design, the cube feels equally at home as a representative fireplace as it does as a fully-fledged barbecue. For this you need a matching stainless steel barbecue rust which can be ordered optionally.

The fireplace has an edge length of 45 x 45 cm with a height of 45 cm.

Another optional accessory is a ground plate made of sheet steel (60 x 60 cm, 10 kg). The fireplace is shown to advantage by the elevation. In addition, embers or sparks cannot fall on the ground, but are safely caught by the sheet metal.
